Austria, CEE & Russia Regional Officer and CEO of Generali CEE Holding Luciano Cirinà offered his deepest sympathies: „Another strong earthquake hit Croatia. Sadly, it turned the peaceful period of the year into a serious crisis. These are very difficult times and I express my deepest sympathies to the entire country, especially to the families of the victims of the earthquake and all those injured or affected.“

CEO of Generali osiguranje, Mario Carini, stated: “Deeply shocked by the devastating earthquake and to support the communities most directly affected, Generali is making a donation to the Sisak-Moslavina County, which has a direct insight into the needs of its residents to contribute to quick and efficient help and rebuild their homes. At the same time, working with Promentz, the initiator of the 'Psychological Help' platform, we are committed to supporting their efforts by organizing mobile teams of specialized psychologists for crisis situations, to provide support to all people and communities in need.”

County Prefect of Sisak-Moslavina, Ivo Žinić, pointed out: “I thank Generali osiguranje from the bottom of my heart for this quick and generous help amounting to 700 thousand kuna. The donated funds will be used to provide help to the residents of Sisak-Moslavina County, as well as to repair the buildings damaged by this devastating earthquake. We are aware of the difficult circumstances in which all the inhabitants of our county but also the health system, schools, as well as other institutions find themselves, so this wholehearted help is extremely important. Thanks for the contribution which makes easier to procure everything that is needed.”

Generali Group Extraordinary International Fund

Generali Group has founded an Extraordinary International Fund, valued at up to 100 million euro, with the aim of solving emergency situations caused by the COVID-19 pandemic. The fund is accessible in countries where Generali operates, to provide immediate help in this fast-evolving crisis, while in the medium-term it is there to support the efforts of economic recovery in countries hit by the pandemic. As part of the donor initiative, Generali donated 150,000 EUR to the Croatian Institute of Public Health, which will use the funds to renew their buildings on Rockefeller street in Zagreb, damaged during the earthquake in March 2020, as well as to support further efforts in ensuring all the necessary resources to the health system in managing the COVID-19 pandemic at the local level.
